

RAL Inspection Services Coronavirus Update for Inspection Providers

RAL Inspection Services considers the health and safety of our service providers, occupants of the homes we inspect and our communities a top priority. As information about coronavirus (COVID-19) continues to develop, it is up to all of us to be informed and diligent in our efforts to minimize the spread of this disease. RAL has the following recommendations for our service partners.

- Wash hands frequently with soap and warm water
- If at all possible, minimize the number of people attending the field inspection
- Incorporate social distancing practices – no need to shake hands
- Incorporate sanitizing efforts during inspections
 - Use disinfectant wipes on inspected items like faucet handles, door knobs and appliance controls.
- Avoid hand to face contact
- Do not inspect if you are not feeling well or feel you may have been exposed to the coronavirus – contact RAL immediately
- Keep up-to-date by following additional recommendations set forth by the Center for Disease Control and World Health Organization as they become available

As we navigate these challenging times together, RAL wants you to remain responsible, respectful and above all safe in the performance of your daily work. Thank you in advance for your cooperation. Please contact RAL with any questions.

Thank you,

Mike Wagner
